

COAT OF ARMS, issue 28 (September 18, 1983) is published by Steve Arnawoodian 602 Hemlock Cr. Lansdale, Pa. 19446 (215) 699-7659. The cost is an outrageous 70¢ per issue.

This is the last COA before I drag Gary Coughlan to Europe. What this means is, no COA until the middle of November. For quite sometime I thought I was going to get out of using my French. Our plans had all but eliminated that country from our trip. But Gary for some reason or other wanted to visit Strasbourg, France. Of course since we'll be in Strasbourg we might as well visit Paris. Now I know Gary has no more a desire to visit France than I do to live in Chad. All Coughlan wants is to see me struggle with a language which I studied (??) for 4 semesters, and at the end of that time French made as much sense to me as the day I began. To brush up on my French I even wrote a letter to Michel Liesnard, About half of this letter was in French. He responded with, "My God what you did to my beautiful language." Thank you Michel for your vote of confidence. You're a lot like one of my French Professors, Mademoiselle Vincens. Whenever someone would make a mistake so awful, as to butcher her French language, she would respond with, "mon Dieu" (my God). The more monDieu's, the worse your mistake. I was the mon Dieu champ with 25!! So with that in mind, a word to the wise, uh I mean a word to Gary Coughlan. If you want to go to France I suggest you take a crash course in that language!

Below is a letter Mr. Coughlan wrote on my behalf to The Committee for Cultural Relations with Armenians Abroad (PO Box 35 Yerevan Armenia)

Dear Sir,

My name is Stephan G. Arnawoodian and I am a professor in the college of Business Administration here in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania at Villanova University. I am of Armenian descent and one of my colleagues from Louisiana told me of a publication of interest to Armenians. This would be your "Committee for Cultural Relations With Armenians Abroad."

Please send me a sample of this publication, as I've never seen it, and let me know what the subscription fees are. If I enjoy it, I will mention it in my brochure called Coat of Arms, which is a cultural publication that I edit every month for Armenians here in the eastern Pennsylvania area.

I hope to hear from you soon. My home address is below. Please send the publication there. Thank you.

Cordially Yours,

Stephan G. Arnawoodian

The publication arrives twice a week without fail! The address they use is ALWAYS totally wrong, except for the zip code and USA. But twice a week I receive a newspaper written in the Armenian language. My comprehension of Armenian by the way falls far short of my understanding of the French language. Today I received a very large folder sized envelope from Yerevan. It contained a large magazine called Sovetakan Hayastan. It even had a picture of the Soviets version of John Michalski! There were two smaller magazines as well. These were in English!! One had a picture of Lenin on the inside cover. I see no reason why I should not have these publications sent to John Michalski. After doing this to me Gary had the audacity to ask me why I attacked his France in Magus' Press Gang game. Well Gary you have your answer.

Penn State has lost its first 3 football games. The last time this happened there was a liberal Michalski. Eventhough I'm not a Penn State fan their sorry record disappoints me. Afterall who is going to back the Nittany Lions when the bet is a bottle of scotch. I spoke to Brad Trutt a few days ago. Brad lives in central Pa. where Penn State football gets front page, major headline billing. You have to search the pages for news on Chad or Lebanon. In fact on the evening news they tape interviews with people on the street about their views on this years Penn State team. But then I suppose this is useful news compared to other areas. For instance, in Oklahoma a major topic for discussion is how many square miles the dust bowl encompasses. This is much like Canada where the first 15 minutes of a 30 minute news show looks at the pros and cons of perma frost and frozen tundra. You have to remember not everyone can open a newscast with the report of how many people visited the home of Elvis Presley of that particular day. But then again none of us are as fortunate as Coughlan to live in a city which has a pro football team called the Showboats. Come to think of it how many cities have a football team which has NEVER won a game! So I guess when you really think about it central Pa. isn't all that bad. They could be like Kansas and report the number of acres of corn eaten by crows that week.

Anytime you happen to be at someone elses home you have to watch what you use for cooking and or eating. Take for instance last week when Ken Jingoian was in my house. He decided to make some iced tea. I was out at the time. He happened to use the pitcher I use for cleaning out the fish tanks. It took my 3 weeks to get up the nerve to tell him. Actually that is not too bad. Consider the time Thad Sorg who has a cabin in the middle of nowhere (near Pittsburgh), had 2 friends there for a weekend. They decided to make spaghetti, while Thad was out. When Thad returned they had already begun to eat. They told Thad to sit down and join them. He declined because the pot they used to boil the spaghetti was the one he used to boil mouse traps. Since they had already eaten Thad felt it was better not to open his mouth. That was 4 years ago and they still don't know. I think I'll write them and tell them!

A few weeks ago one of my cousins told me I would have to babysit for her 2 year old daughter. To be quite honest I was more than just a bit worried. Afterall I hadn't changed a diaper in 13 years. To help me out and improve my babysitting skills Kathy Byrne sent her 11 year old son to my house for a week. During this week my cigar smoking increased from 1-2 per day, to 7-8 per day. Everyday Frank talked me into taking him to the video store to rent a movie. Everyday he tried to rent Porkies. Everyday I told him no as it was rated 'R'. Everyday he rented movies, all were rated 'R'.. The kids in the neighborhood wanted to know if the could come over and watch movies after Frank went back to NYC. That was such a preposterous question that I refused to answer. The kids have stopped over three times since. The last time they were greeted by a somewhat less than congenial Al Pearson!

For those of you who don't know what life is like with an 11 year old, you are lucky. Not only did Frank end up with 'R' flicks. The kid also embarrassed me by taking an ear of corn to the video store. I don't know how I missed it but after we were in the store for 5 minutes there it was for everyone to see. I also ended up at a Pro Wrestling match. I'm not certain why or what happened but there I was at the Allentown Fair in line for tickets. A scalper came over to me and offered me 2- $10 tickets for $8 each. If the guy said $12 I would have bought them but for $8 I figured there had to be something wrong with them. I still am amazed at the number of people who attended, some 6000. This was probably the best comedy I had ever see. By the end of the week I really did not believe Kathy would show to pick up her son. Fortunately she did.

Still I had to face my 2 yearold cousin. For further experience Nancy Pearson sent Al to my home for 3 days. For fear of my life I will not say anything else about Hoss' visit.

My sister and brother-in-law wanted to help me along too. They went away for 3 weeks and let me watch my 17 year old nephew. Although I still have a week to go I can safely say if I smoked 1 pack of cigars when Kathy's son was visiting me I am now smoking 3 packs and am ready to switch to cigarettes and perhaps even drinking scotch from the bottle. Everyday I walk in the house at about 4 PM there will be about 4 or 5 cigarette butts in the ashtray. Now I really don't care if my nephew smokes or not but when I ask him to empty the ashtray because his grandparents are coming over, I hate the response he comes up with, "they're not mine". I really enjoy the common sense of 17 year olds. Take for instance last sat. My nephew (I had considered using his name but anyone 16 or 17 doesn't deserve that courtesy) decided to change the oil in his car. After he was outside for ½ hour I went out to check on him. I immediately noticed a stream of oil on the driveway. I for some foolish reason asked what happened. It seemed the bucket he was draining the oil into had a hole in it.

Last night was the big night. I quickly found out taking care of a 2 year old is a breeze, even if you have to change diapers. The 2 year old is bribable and they listen to threats.

A second issue of WoodPecker has come out. The first issue was published a year or so ago. Woodpecker is Bob Osuch's attempt to annoy me. Below is an example of Osuch's humor.

Alec's Column by Alec Bungworthy

Hi. I am Allec Bungworthy. K I am nine yeers old. I wuld like to start a colum for Uncle Woody in his zeen, sos that you cahn get too know him better. Uncle Woody says i have to tipe this becuz my riting is to big. Unicle Woody says I tipe about as good as Bob Olsun. I wuld like too teall you all about the fun times I have with Uncle Woody. I wuld like too be a riter some day and Uncle Woody says that it is nevver to erly too start. So let me tell you about Uncle Woody. ok.

Uncle Woody is a fumilyer face around Iamsdale. He can always be found around town eather taking care of his dry cleenink bxisness, or waching the fish swim at the aquaireum, or hanging around our grade school giving us kids candy and rides and other favers. We really like Uncle Woody he is like a Uncle too us. I gess that is why we call him Uncle Woody.

When school was out for the summer, Uncle Woody says that he is lonely so some times I bring some of my very speshul play mates over for him too enjoy. Thexse kids like Unxle Woody becuz he gives them money if they rlay games with him. Uncle "Woody likes too play "Assoom the posishun" and also "strip leep frog" and "proctolojist". One day I was playing proctolojist with Unicle Woody and he put on his rubber gluvs to check for hemmeroids, but that was funny cuz when he was chekxking he had both hands on my sholders. These games seem kind of stranie too us, but we play any way becuz we dont want too hurt Uncle Woodys feelings. Plus we like his money.

During the hot sumummer days Uncle Woody comes over and sits by our pool. Some times when my parents are away, I dress up in my bakeeny for him. Well, its nor reely a bakeeny. Its a swet sock with shoe lases attatched that Unicle Wxwoody gave me for my birthday. But when my parents are arownd Uncle Woody butters up mom and dad so they wont think a bad thing is gowing on. Dad gets mad at Uncle Woody wen he drinks all the beer thow. And mom dusement like it when he belches and farts lowdly in fronxt of gramma. Mom says that is impolite, but when I told her that Uncle Wxwoody is armeeneean, she nodded her head knowingly.

Thats all for now. I have to go now so I can get the guys toogether for kmore fun and games with Uncle Woody!

((Heh, heh, great little kidder, that Alec. Bet he had all of you believing that garbage. Yes, the little toddler has quite an imagination. Ah well, we were all kids once, eh? I mean, it's not true. Heh, heh.))

ANTWERP: Sidney Dougstreet put down the menu with obvious disgust. Since the French had arrived, simple Belgian fare was not to be had, everything was frenchified. Even simply baked potatoes were complex spicy dishes with interiors pumped out, mixed with sauces, cooked and pumped back in. Sighing, the stout little man ordered a Guinners and waited for his contact to arrive. Last winter, George Cheswick, a promising young employee of M1-6 had been murdered during some pagan festival in Munich. Young George had been following up on a tip from the witchcraft source about some super secret French plan code named "double helix". Sidney was Georges' replacement...

PARIS: D'Artagnon put down the red telephone and turned to the elderly man who everyone called but not to his face, "Our Heavenly Father." "King Robert is nervous but I assured him that we still intended to enter to Med in full force and hand over Kiel. I think his greed has swallowed his brain." The old man replied, "Yes, and now we can embark on the task our forefathers could only dream of, the suppression of the Protestant Heresy! Already half of Germany receives the blessings of the Pope. And, to think Robert of Huntington imagined that we would betray our kindred in Italy."

Why does the ((certain ethnic background)) dog have bumps on its head?
From chasing parked cars, silly one!!

And YOU must have "bumps" on (in) your head for even thinking about reading

E.S.A.D.

ESAD 6 ESAD 6 ESAD 6

Yes,

"ESAD," the subzine that answers the question,
"Who cares?", with the typical answer, "no one!"

I pub this thing every third lunar cycle, when the moon is in the 7th house, and Jupiter aligns with Mars (thanks to the 5th Dimension for the lyrics). I also pub whenever I get a case of insanity (nearly always) or whenever I get a case of Iron City Beer (not nearly enough). My sub fee is kind of high and kind of low: low to the extent that I don't charge anything; to read ESAD all you have to do is sub to either Coat of Arms or Europa Express. And THAT, folks, is the "high price" you have to pay to read this drivell!

ME →

ESAD's "daddy" is Mark A. Fassio, 145 Rhodes Ave, Shaw AFB, SC 29152

ooo The intent of ESAD is easy for even the cretinous of individuals to understand: there is NO game to follow, NO cute talk, NO pressing hobby life-and-death matters to be urgently debated before the tribunal, etc. All there is is garbage like this. Abuse. Stupid jokes. More abuse. Half-cocked predictions and opinions by the retarded pubber. You get the general drift...need I say more? And, if you're still reading this, you're a better man than I, Gunga Din.

%%% ESAD deals very indirectly with the game of Diplomacy, a creature invented by a Mr. Calhamer, absorbed into the Avalon Hill Empire, and currently played by a few hundred/thousand hearty souls by mail. There are new plastic pieces in the later games, and for those of you who hate them (as I do), perhaps you could melt them into one multi-colored glob and send them COD to Avalon Hill; I'm sure they'd love your feedback.....

 The opinions/garbage/mindless drivell printed herein is solely the product of my own depraved imagination. It DOES NOT reflect the views of the Air Force, Bonnie & Clyde, Laurel & Hardy, Walker & Peery, the Baghwan Shee Ranjsheesh, or any person, living or dead. Any publication, rebroadcast or other use of this subzine without the express written consent of the pubber and the Pittsburgh Steeler football team is expressly prohibited....

$$$ WHAT'S UP THIS ISSUE, UNCLE MARKIE??? Glad you asked, sleazeball! This ish should contain the usual Fassio Trademarks of Excellence:

1. Zine plug
2. Rightist Ravings
3. Comments/Letters from other bozos, TO INCLUDE CRACKING OF "ESAD!"
4. Playlist of albums you've never heard of before
5. Etc
6. More etc.

((OK, then, fellow pbm'ers...with all that out of the way (and the need for first page filler space at an end), let's PRESS ON to page 2 of ESAD!

+++ ZINE PLUG: Before we get into the ~~meat~~ gristle of ESAD, let me unveil yet another Fassio plug of a zine. This issue I'd like to spotlight a new zine called The End Justifies the Means, published by James Briggs, an Army PFC stationed in Texas. Address? You need his address? Get away from me, boy, you bother me. I don't have his address on hand--call Dick Martin's Census Bureau if you need an address.

Anyhooo....Jim's zine is a nice product, at least for the debut issue. He ran the rules for a game of Der Führer, gave a little background info on himself, his gaming/pubbing ideas, and the like in the first ish. The format is nice, he's a right-winger (reason enough to buy the zine!!!!), and he seems really interested in producing a nice product and keeping the hobby filled with another good effort for pbm'ing. Did you understand that last sentence? Neither did I.

Fassio's Judgement on the zine: a goodie. Another nice-to-have addition to the Dipaholic's quest for more of the same. Buy it or I'll kidnap your kid.

Left

))) RIGHTIST RAVINGS. This is my section to make myself look like a jingoistic fartsack, oblivious to all common sense and liberal ideas...thank Goodness. I apologize for the lack of "currency" in some of the items; by the time Dr. Zero (Woody) pubs his zine, a lot of this stuff is old hat, you dig?

Let's all ask Woody to pub a separate, intermediate COA, just to send out a timely issue of ESAD! Sounds like a good idea, doesn't it, kiddies?

I SAID: DOESN'T IT, KIDDIES??????

Ravings follow.

French and US aircraft bomb Druze Muslim positions after being shelled by the bad ol' boys. More Marine casualties, but a resolve to "stay the course" and keep the peace by the Multi-national peacekeepers. Good show!...Central America occupying increasing interest in our policy-making. About time, what with the Commies on our doorstep. DEFENSELESS KOREAN JETLINER SHOT DOWN by "peaceloving," fraternal Soviet Motherland. Typical Soviets. And these are the people we have to negotiate arms control agreements with, eh? Bull! We should blow a few of their ships out of the water, to even the score. We could say that they were in our area, and we tried to "warn and help" them, but they "ran away." The shits.

@@@ Which leads to my editorial, nice transitions notwithstanding.

!!! EDITORIAL. So, how about those Soviets, huh? Sure would love to have them as MY next-door neighbors in the "world community of nations," wouldn't you?! They'd kill your dog if he peed in their flower patch, no doubt. We hear all the time about the xenophobia (fear of strangers, for all of you college dropouts); we hear about their historical mistrust/fear of anyone who doesn't call Krasnoyarsk, USSR, his hometown. We hear about the "need" to "understand" the Soviet view of the world in order to deal with them in such critical things as arms control, East-West detente, etc.

El-toro poo-poo.

FACT: The Soviets are the only non-homogenous folks in the world community. We shouldn't have to bend to them and try to understand them. THEY need to get their act together and see (oops)) how the rest of the world is operating, NOT vice versa.

A lot of it is similar to the idea of teaching immigrant kids in their native language, instead of having them jump in "cold water" and get instantly dosed in "Americana." Because of that we have to write off the lower 1/3 of Florida to Cuba and we are in the process of being second-language (English) citizens in our own country.

Now I'm honestly ALL FOR immigrants trying to get a piece of America. I mean, unless your name is Squanto or Chief Long-bow, or unless your relatives ran aground at Plymouth Rock, we all had past immigrant relatives come over for the American Dream. Fine, no heartburn with that.

BUT, my grandfather didn't have the luxury of the rest of Pennsylvania speaking Italian to help him along. He dove in and earned his keep, and that's all I'm saying should happen here and now in the states with the immigration waves.

HEY, wait a minute!!!! This started as an anti-Russian tirade, not an anti-language dissertation. Back to the original thoughtwaves...

Anyway, the Soviets have been guilty of numerous violations of world morality (gulags, secret police, invasions, and general populace repression), and all they seem to get from it is more European capital investment to build their pipelines and armament industries.

We'd BEST start dealing with the Soviets in the only language they understand: firm resolve and force. Cut off their grain, and let their 5-Year Follies give their people empty bellies. Keep Aeroflot and their "cultural exchanges" (read: spies) out of the country. Teach 'em the meaning of fear! The slaps on the wrists of their murderous hands do no good, liberal fellow travellers.

The Soviets are nothing more than left-wing versions of the Nazis. Same wine, different bottle, that's all. The world should exile them in all aspects. But (sigh) we won't. Sell the capitalist enough rope and he'll hang himself. Thanks, V.I. Lenin, nee Ulyanov, you jerk.

~~~~~ OK, enough Editorializing. Comments?

COMMENTS from others. Yes, you heard right, dorko! I actually got some feedback from 2 people. Miracles never cease, I reckon.

The first came from (who else) James Briggs of Texas, the guy whose zine I just praised last page (scratch my back and I'll scratch yours, folks). Jim stated that my zine was the funniest thing he read in COA in a long time.

COMMENT: I have a couple observations on that. First, it shows you that he recognizes TRUE TALENT in an otherwise desolate, disgusting rag of putridity like COA (snicker). But it also shows you this guy's version of "funny;" Jim needs help, folks. Send any money for his lobotomy to ME, at my home address. I'll see that it gets to him, ha ha.

* The other comment came from the Mephis Flash, Mr. Beauregard Coughlan.

01' Gary says that he liked the zine, and he hopes to see it arrive to his Europa Express zine.

MY COMMENT: Dream on, hick! I mean, c'mon, Gary; your format needs to be shrunk so that the margins are about 45" on both sides, which allows me to type all of 3 words per line. Even Woody has a better format! Besides, you Unreconstructed Rebel.....do you actually think that I would allow Yankee genius to be spoiled by inclusion into your multi-colored Dixiecrat Creation? You're darn right I will!

Look for about 600 future issues of ESAD to arrive in EE, as soon as I figure out how to adjust these margins on the typewriter...

!@# Incidentally, for those of you who care, all one of you: GARY COUGHLAN is the ONE AND ONLY person to correctly identify the initials of ESAD. They stand for...(drum roll, PLEASE!):

Eat S--- And Die.

You betcha, folks, another wiz-bang acronym from yours truly. Where did I get such a disgusting idea for the zine name?

Weeeellll...when I was a sophomore at IUP (<sup>INDIANA</sup> ~~Miana~~ Univ of Pennsylvania, for those of you who have been living in a closet for the last 6 years), there was this frat-rat roomie of my buddy, a Sig Chi (they prefer Sigma Chi, thank you) and this Sig Chi had a friend named Myron (typical frat name) who loved to utter that statement to anyone in the nearby vicinity. I therefore decided that ESAD would be my credo to follow when pubbing, and I did it out of selfless dedication to the valiant men and women of the Greek System in countless colleges across America, who are no doubt uttering those beautiful 4 words at this very moment. God bless 'em.

+++ That was the only other comment I received as of late. What's that you say? YOUR comment is "in the mail?" Oh, OK, yup, yup.....

Sports. How about the first week of football season, huh? What a joke! My beloved Steelers blew the game to the Dorko Broncos, the Fleagles beat the Helen Keller All Stars (the 49ers), and upsets prevailed.

What really galled me (after my Steelers losing) was the Cowboy's Monday night victory over the Skins. Pitiful. I HATE the Cowboys; they epitomize the South, they are luckier than crap, they're dopers, and all this fuss about "America's team" is just so much booshwah. "Albania's team", maybe. Certainly not mine.

I still look for a neck-and-neck season in the AFC Central, with Cincy and Pittsburgh going to the wire. Look for the Seahawks to do good (I hope); they're my other team for football.

Other Sports. There are no other sports. None.

=== More ETC. Work's been pretty easy lately now that my projects are done, I'll think of you as I'm roughing another war in scenic Florida...actually, just being married, I'd opt for staying in less-than-gorgeous Sumter, and let everyone else fight the war. But the job is never easy, and someone's got to do it, right?

My in-laws have been here for a week, and are leaving tomorrow. Darn! I sure wish they could stay longer, ha ha....seriously, they've helped a lot. "Dad" mowed my yard, "Mom" redid the drapes/living room arrangement, and we even got treated for supper one night. There are fringe benefits to the deal, I must say.

Woody and Gary will soon be gone-gone-gone, for Europe and the Octoberfest, if I am correct? At least they're going to Europe, if not to Munich for the 'fest. Write your Congressman and see if we can declare them illegal aliens and deny them entry into America after their trip.

STATE OF THE SOUTH MESSAGE. The South sucks dirtballs. No lie.

!G#&@&*()_

Fin!

Yes, chillen, the old clock on the wall tells us that it's time to end this laugh riot and get back to serious work. This will be the last ESAD for awhile, as the Goon Brothers will be in Europe and I'll be in Florida (almost the same thing).

A good Indian summer/early autumn to you all.

If you get a chance to "take a drive," go on a late vacation, etc. I really recommend travelling I-77 from Virginia into southern West Va, and then I-19 and I-79 in West Va, to southern PA. (This info is obviously meant for the East Coaster, as opposed to the West Coaster, or Roller Coaster). Those 3 roads (especially 77) are GORGEOUS in fall, and it really makes you admire nature in her finest.

But what do you care about nature, right? As long as you can sit in your house in your underwear and watch Studio Wrestling on TV, you're happy. You disgust me. Hit the road, geek!

So endeth ESAD 6. I'm just like crabgrass; you run over it every week with the mower, but it comes right back. Take care, and I hope you got a chuckle out of this. If not, "ESAD"

STRANGE DOINGS

THE best thing to come out of Santa Monica, California since Pico first met Sepulveda. STRANGE DOINGS is not a subzine, but if it were, it would come to you from the medium-technology Royal type-writer of Mike Mazzer 1338-B Harvard Street, Santa Monica, CA 90404. Give me a call at (213) 8281085 and leave a message on my wife's answering machine. I won't call you back, but I'd enjoy listening to you make a fool of yourself talking to a machine.

It is quite possible that by the next time you see STRANGE DOINGS, my daughter Amanda will have a new baby brother. I say this as a word of warning to those of you who are starting my second game, PudgeCon Invitational II -- The Omen, that if sometimes my adjudications are a little incoherent (more so than usual), or there are Infamil stains on your copies, to please bear wøth me.

PudgeCon II was different, and in some ways even better than PudgeCon I,, which goes to show you that sequels sometimes top the original. There were twice as many women this time (2 ), considerably more squirt guns, more beer, and Bob's own Diet Citrus Mist (yuch!). There were such features as Eric Ozog proving that he is onw of the hobby's top face-to-face players by winning a FTF game in which he stabbed five players and all five of them rewarded him by giving him their remaning centers. This despite the fact that Eric couldn't speak above a whisper because of laryngitis. There was Woody, whø was not there, which always makes for a great Con. There was hobby politics, feuds, grudges, etc. whøch were also not there, and there were also a few good games of FtF Diplomacy, whøch no one cares a ~~fig~~ fig about hearing about afterwards. What PudgeCon II did have was our ever gracious host, Bob Olsen, onw of the Hobby's true unsung heroes who surrendered his house to 18 or so dubious characters, and made everyone feel completely welcome. The way I see it, here is a chance for a family-man like myself, on the downhill side of 30, who had a chance to spend a weekend with a bunch of guys (and women), drinking beer, playing kid's games, batting ballonns around, shooting people with squirt guns and sleeping on the floor, and nobody thought me strange. And that is what this hobby is all about.

And there will be a second game starting inx STRANGE DOINGS, the Second PudgeCon Invitational, formed of people who were there. Woody is kind enough to allow me to run this game if I hold the press down. Teal, you what, send in all the press you want. I like nothing more than sitting up nights typing press. You who are in the games will see your press in all its glory since I send this out separately. The rest, who just see this in COA ... what a bunch of dummies!!

And who are the Significant Seven who will play in PudgeCon II???????

Aus-GM: I hate to correct you-- once I start a project like that it may never end-- but aside from the singer for Herman's Hermits ( a little classical music for you there) there is no such word as "noone". Try "no one". Shame, shame, and you a Mensan to ((~~x9x~~ sic ))).

Atari-Brother: Feeling a bit under the weather, Brother? Try laying on of hands-- it cured me. I lost my paralysis and stood up<sup>1</sup> and calculated! Have Amanda put her hands on you and shout, "Heal!" Or better yet, have her sit on you and yell "Horsie!" ((Pretty tough to write press when you're way out in front, eh?))

Sardinia-Rauterberg: Yeah, we could have stopped the leaders, but it was much more fun stomping you into oblivion. Ahhh, I feel much better already.

Aus-Fra: Rrrrrrrrrauterberg! ((Looks like it's time for another imitatin Olsen contest.))

Aus-Ita: Funny how that worked out. Remember our deal, I take your centers at the same rate as you take France's. Somehow it worked. So do I keep my promises or what? ((Well, what do you say to that, Pops?))

Osuch-Olsen: But you did lie -- shocked the hell out of me too. That's OK though, we crushed the scurvy dog anyway.

Osuch-Toots: Mission accomplished.

Aus-Monolithic EGI Alliance: Can I be the last one to take France's last center? It'd be chuckles. Oh, can my ally Marc have one too?

Vie-Rom: Don't be disillusioned. Just think of me as Bruce Linsey with a touch of class. ((Bob's got class he hasn't even used yet.))

Osuch-World: Now that Olsen is actually doing well in a game, expect to see tactics articles in Diplomacy World by the creep-- Sheesh, give him an inch and he takes a mile. ((Or he takes Tunis.))

Aus-Eng: "I don't like Burger King/ I don't like anything" Not merely a message; consumerism too. ((Who says there's no social commentary in STRANGE DOINGS?))

Osuch-Mazzer: That's right-- give it to Colighlan good-- he deserves it for all that he's done and ... Oops, wrong game. ((But right idea.))

PudgeCon II Final Bed Report (Aus): Guess who wound up with the bed? Me, that's right. Daf and Frauke chickened out. ***Expletive Deleted is a subxyn to Coat of Arms and is published by Tom Swider of PO Box 1324; SUNY Bing; Bing, NY 13901. Phone # is (607) 729-2830, but I'm rarely at home these days. ED runs several different multi player games, including Diplomacy, Final Conflict and Stellar Conquest. Currently, there are openings in The Brotherhood, which was reviewed in last issue (#17). If interested, I have house rules for all these games available upon request.

An ED-torial

***Not properly centered, but what the hey.

***Please note the following: COA for Tom Swider:

TOM SWIDER
P.O. Box 1324
SUNY Bing
Bing, NY 13901

***I'm still living at home, but recently my goddamn rural route has possibly been responsible for the non-recipiance of one player's moves, and the loss of a standby request which resulted in me NMRing.

***For the benefit of Mr. Eric Ozog, "Bing" stands for B-I-N-G-H-A-M-T-O-N. You may astutely notice that there's no "P" in Binghamton. Botched up spellings of Binghamton are reserved for Keith Sherwood and for mapmakers who sometimes misspell the city's name.

***Also, I refuse to admit that the P.O. Box exists so I can order dirty magazines without anyone at home finding out. Yup, I deny it completely. I'm surprised that Woody would think that I'd dabble in such things.

***Let's see. I've got a full 16 credit hours worth of classes this semester, and I'm working 24 hours/week. If I only could have an extra 1 hour every day... I'm really beginning to appreciate the rare "free time" that I occasionally get.

***This issue turned out to be pretty much a game issue, as usual. Pac-Man shouldn't go on for more than another 3 months, so that will leave more room in ED for other things. This issue also has the Republican view of what "really" happened at PudgeCon II.

***Xyn Scene: Cathy Cuning published the first issue of Cathy's Ramblings, the first xyn to have a real female publisher. Inside it had the scoop on the TSS orphans, a review of DipCon and some Con out in Seattle, something called "Mr. Ree Theatre" (the guy has a pretty bad English accent though) and some letters. Check it out. I'm at work so I don't have the address. Check around in Diplomatic Immunity's Pasta Faciole game.

***Well, guess that's it for this month. Bye, and NEVER take Business Law if you ever get a chance!

GAME OPENINGS: I have one opening in "The Brotherhood". I've deecided not to charge a game fee in order to get some of you guys interested in trying the game out. The game will be ran strictly within ED; I won't send out adjudications seperate, as I usually do. There's room for 5 players. Drop a line and I'll send you a copy of the rules and how you play it postally. It's a game that you don't need to do any negotiations, if you want.

SAF: Brad Wilson (302 Friendship Drive; Paoli, PA 19301)
USA: Eric Ozog (1526 Nth Lawler Ave; Chicago, IL 60651)

***Welcome to PLEIADES! I got preference lists and gamefees from all players, so we can start without any problems. For your information, PLEIADES (pronounced "PLEA-a-dez") were the seven daughters (countries are often referred to in the feminine) of Atlas (of ICBM fame?), and is a sort of appropriate name for a game of Final Conflict.

***Here are how the preference lists came out, with a brief explanation of how I did things:

OZOG: U c a p r b s
WILSON: S b u p c r a
BOHNER: C p s r a u b
PETERS: s b p u a R c
HEINTZMAN: a B s c u r p
HIGHFIELD: A u b s p c r
SESLER: s a u P b c r

***Those who had uncontested first choices got them (Ozog, Bohner). I broke first choice ties by die rolls, with Wilson and Highfield winning. That left Russia, Pan-Arab League and Brazil. Heintzman and Peters both wanted Brazil, so I gave Sesler his highest remaining choice (PAL, 4th choice, which still is pretty sad; also, he had Russia listed last, so I couldn't give him last choice). So between Peters and Heintzman, one would get 2nd choice and one would get the 6th choice; both had Russia as #6 and Brazil as #2. Heintzman won the toss.

***I found it weird that Russia appeared so low on so many preference lists, including those from XEVIUS (my Dip World demo game), because it has fewer problems than many of the other countries. Simple mathematics produced this 'average' preference list which typifies the PLEIADES players: S A/U (tie for 2nd) B P C R. For XEVIUS, it came out B/S/U (tie for 1st) P A/R C. USA and BRA definitely are the favorites, though there's some room for Aussie near the top. PAL seems to be a mixed bag, and the Asians (Rus/Chi) get the booby prize. In face to face games, Russia and China seemed to do well. Mike Barno has played several good Russias and I got a two-way draw with a very powerful China, though they are like Austria/Germany; they can die fast.

***Regardless, I think the game is pretty well balanced, and I apologize for going on for so long. Part of this is supposed to be reading material for my next issue.

***The Spring 2101 deadline is October 10th, which should give you all plenty of time to get in advanced orders and press (hint hint!). I accept all sorts of press of any color (white, grey, black, blue, green (elf press), pink, yellow, etc).

MUAD DIB FOUND MURDERED IN SIETCH TABR! GUILD/BG/TLEILAXU TRIUMVERATE ESTABLISH LAW AND ORDER. LET DUNE BE DUNE!!!

***Dune-01-82 Began in May of '82, to end a little more than a year later (which is a short game of Dune, considering it only lasted 5 turns) Though a delay was encountered by yours truly, most of the time which dragged out the 5 turns was due to the frequent nexuses which occurred. Because of that, I suggest that future postal DUNE games be played without the formal alliance. The spice deal rules allow more than enough player interaction.

***I still have not received any endgame statements; I'll print any that I receive up till October 8th. The endgame states are on the next page, and the final board position appears above.

The Cast

- #1: Jeff Bohner (509 Twist Run Road; Endwell, NY 13760)
- #2: Debbie Osborne (7604 Penrod; Detroit, MI 48228)
- #3: Al Pearson (Box 898; Charles Town, WV 25414)
- #4: Mark Larzelere; 7607 Fountainebleau Dr #2352; New Carrollton, MD 20784)

BUM-LIANS (Jeff) Has TFs in Lupi, 1003, 1905, Aurigae and Sadir
TRUNG HEGEMONY (Debbie) Has TFs in Ross, Draconis, Lacaille and Luyten
Zert CHUMPDON (Al) Has TFs in 2709, Schedar, Diphda, Rastaban, Alphard, 2808, Canis
REMULAK (Mark) Has TFs in Vega, Canis, Barnard, Spica and 1017.

***There was a combat in Canis, resulting in the elimination of the Remulak Task Force. The nitty gritty, gore-filled details will be issued to only the Remulak and Zert Chumpdom factions.

***Still working on the map. College just started and time is something I wish I had more of. Sigh. Eventually, AMIDAR will get a map provided my whiteout doesn't run out on me first.

***The deadline for turn 12 orders is no later than September 17th (earlier if at all possible).

***PRESS: (What? Get the reporters! Even Ripley wouldn't believe it!)

BOOVIANS to REMULAKS: Isn't Scorpii just a beautiful place to visit?

100,000 BOOVIANS WENT TO ORIGINS '83!!!!: Maybe some of you saw us. 12,586 of us were disguised as a bald spot on Woody's head, others camouflaged themselves among the pieces of food stuck in Tom Swider's teet, and grease strands in Al Pearson's hair. What a trip!

ARIES: Point of interest: Have you ever wondered why it's so hard to tell somebody (even one of your friends who just lives down the block) that his zipper was down during an entire Origins convention? I didn't notice that this happened to my friend (who will go hereforth un-named) until I heard Debbie Osborne pointing & laughing, and Woody drooling.

PRESS:

BOB to HONEST AL: Gee Al, all that work, and you wind up with nothing but India while Woody gets the rest! I think I could have made you a better offer.

BRAZIL to ISRAEL: Funny thing about those nukes, Al, once you've launched them, damned if you can't call them back! (I tried...I really did.. ask the GM) Now, I know I'm going to pay for it, but I'm sorry just the same, ~~I/fff/fff/fff/fff/fff/fff/fff~~, really.

BRAZ to GM: Boy, SOME people...am I sending too much press?

ARIES: Well, print my next "The Bolivian Boomerang" and we'll call it even.

BRAZIL to RUSSIAN: Did you launch on me, too?

WOODY to ROACH WILLIAMS: It's not nice nuking Woody's ally, Hoss! Repent you S.O.B!

AUSTRALIA to SOUTH AFRICA: This move to WIO is only to protect the high seas from the Jewish warmonger. The final solution starts now. If I dislodge you, retreat forward.

SAO PAULO: Reports of sheer horror and debauchery have begun to leak out of Australia, in the wake of the landing of the Boat People (Greenback refugees from the United States, if you don't remember) in downtown Sydney. More details next month.

BRAZIL: Turn about is fair play...

BRAZIL: Your momma does, too!

ARIES: Forgot to mention this: The standby for South Africa once again is Carl Russell who still lives at 21 Morgan Road; Bingo NY 13903. He's sort of my "permenant S African standby..."

***Looks like the stage is set for some interesting things to happen in this game. It's possible for 8 nukes (!) to be built this upcoming winter, and if all (or up to 7) hit supply centers, the victory conditions for 2006 will go down to 18, and possibly lower on future turns. I remember someone saying he thought this would be a LONG game. Once they start flying, the end of the game approaches even faster. Have fun!

Pudgecon II

I don't believe in planning trips, so my recent trip to Wichita, Kansas was no exception. I didn't know for sure if I was going until the night before. We were supposed to leave at 8:30 but someone partied too much the night before, so we didn't leave Binghamton until 11:30. The first leg of our trek was Mike Barno and myself driving in the Barnomobile Mark IV to Chicago. Nothing of any consequence happened to us except: From Binghamton to Jamestown, the car stalled quite a bit. I didn't keep track of the stalls, but it was nowhere near the record set from Detroit to the upstate NY border--59. When the car finally got going (the muffler came off), Mike was caught speeding by a NY state trooper. The trooper informed us that he was going 72 mph. (Mike's speedometer was off; he thought he was going 75). "Where's the inspection sticker?", "It blew out the window" Mike replied. "Start the car", the trooper asked. Mike did and the trooper asks him where the muffler is. "It fell off in Jamestown". The nice trooper didn't give Mike a speeding ticket, but did give him a citation for no muffler and inspection sticker. Moral of this story: you can speed in NY but you have to do it quietly and with a legal car.

Once we made it out of NY, it was clear flying driving, the car worked good until we reached Chicago at 12:30 am CST. We made it to Rusnak's in 14 hours more or less. Eric Ozog and Jim-Bob Burgess picked us up at Russ' at 5:30 am. "We'll be in Wichita by noon", I thought. Wrong. It was another 14 hours of driving before we reached Bob's house. We were comfortable though as Eric's car ("The Toadmobile") has air conditioning and is "ride engineered".

The scenery on the way to Kansas was excellent. Illinois is very flat and is covered with farms that grow corn and hay. This year has been especially hard on the Illinois corn crop as it has been very dry this year. In quite a few fields we saw corn that was stunted and burnt by the sun. The next state we crossed was Missouri. Missouri would be considered hilly to someone from Illinois, but if your home is NY, their hills are pretty wimpy. The hills aren't any higher than a two-story house. Like Illinois, they grow a lot of corn, but it wasn't dried out as much as in IL. Northern Kansas looks the same as Missouri except that it was slightly flatter. Gently rolling hills, trees and lots of corn and wheat. Kansas is a very green state, not brown like in the "Wizard of Oz". As we traveled south through Kansas, trees became few and far between. Thirty miles north of Wichita, we took the scenic route through the "Flint Hills". They didn't have any flint on them, all you could see was green grass. The hills were bigger than those in Missouri, but they were more gently sloping. Whenever the car reached the top of one of the hills, you could see the entire horizon, not just part of it like in NY. The view was truly impressive.

We reached Wichita at 7:30 pm Friday. Wichita is a bogus town. In the center of town, you could drive for a half-mile without even going by a building. They have streets with no houses on them!! 75% of the city is vacant lots and streets. Bob Olsen's house was on one of the few occupied streets that was adjacent to some non-streets and a hayfield.

We arrived at Bob's house and introduced ourselves to the people who were there. Mike Mazzer introduced himself as Evans Givan, so I apologized to him for the "Ohio" game. When he stopped laughing, he told me who he really was. I met Steve Langley, Daf Fritz, Gary Coughlan, John Michalski, Jeff & Randy Ellis, Pete Ashley, Scott Hanson & Frauke Peterson. All of us were starved, so we went out to Godfather's Pizza. It wasn't bad pizza, but not as good as Pizza Hut.

Gary had brought about 20 squirt guns for use on Saturday night, but a water fight started early. It was a great battle. As usual, the south was losing badly. At the end, Gary didn't have a dry spot on him. Everyone else was wet as well, except for a few non-combatants who took refuge in a safe part of the house. I had the most accurate squirt gun until Gary broke it. After I lost my weapon, I withdrew from the fight. The battle raged for another hour until a truce was called. Bob's house was a disaster area. His Atari was covered with water. I still don't believe that it didn't short out. Walls were covered with water. The house dried off okay, I guess.

The first dip game we played started Friday night and went to early Saturday morning. The game was voted a concession to France (Mazzer) and Russia (Barno). After the game, everyone went to sleep around 3 am. At 7 am, we were all rudely awakened by Rusnak and Peters, who had left Chicago at 5 pm Friday night. We went for breakfast while Rusnak & Peters went for beer.

After breakfast, we began another dip game. Mazzer was Turkey, France-Barno, Italy-Michalski, Germany-Jeff Ellis, England-Randy Ellis, Jim Williams was Russia and I was Austria. France was attacked early by E/G/I but he held on tenaciously. R/T wanted me to be part of a 3-way, I said no to that and in '02 took Bul from Turkey and Rum from Russia. I was at ten centers until my faithful ally Italy stabbed me. I survived though, and was included in a 3-way E/I/A draw. That was my best Austria ever, my only one that ever survived.

Other games that were played that weekend were Zork, Qix, Star Raiders and Risk. I thought the Risk game was the highlight of the con. Rusnak, Barno, the Ellis' and myself played a hilarious game of Risk. The Ellis' had been stabbing each other in the dip games we played. When they set up their armies, they put them all next to each other, ignoring all threats from anyone else. The older Ellis (Randy) was eliminated on the first round by his brother. I was the next eliminated, as I had put most of my armies in Europe. There were only 3 players left; Rusnak, Barno and Jeff Ellis. Jeff was playing conservatively, but Rusnak was hot with the dice. He yelled "come on little boy" as he rolled sixes again and again. At one point, Barno and Rusnak traded risk cards--Jeff asked whether that was legal or not and Jim-Bob said it was in the rules. Rusnak attacked unmercifully and had Jeff wiped out when he proposed a concession to Jeff. "Why?" Jeff asked. "Because we cheated", Rusnak answered. We all laughed over that for a good fifteen minutes. ((I knew Rusnak would eventually show his true color--TJS))

Other highlights of the con were teaching five novices how to play Civilization when you don't know how yourself. Two Civilization games were started, neither game was completed.

Sunday we had dinner at an excellent Chinese resaurant. The last game we played was "Cosmic Dip". It was a riot!

Monday morning, we left Wichita for Chicago very early. For a change of scenery, we went through Iowa instead of Missouri on our way back. Iowa is about the same as Illinois except that the corn was taller. Mike Barno rode in Russ' car so that their gas bill and driving share would be less. At Des Moines, Barno followed a heart-mobile that was cruising at about 65-70 mph. At one point, he even passed it! The ride back

ARIES: I do miss his phone calls. They were always good for a laugh.

PARIS to WOODY: I read your article on Italy; too bad you don't have an article that would apply to this game.

PARIS to MIKE: I didn't stab England. I just defended myself against him.

ARIES: Does Bohner lie? Does the Pope shit in the woods? Is a bear Catholic?

PudgeCon II Review Conc.

to Chicago was uneventful--but I did get to see the Mississippi river. In Chicago, we ordered pizza with everything on it. Two slices and I was full. That was thick pizza!

Tuesday morning, we were ready to leave early, but Mike's car wasn't. It wouldn't even turn over. Rusnak had to go to work and take Jim-Bob to the train station and Marc Peters to the bus station. He yelled to us, "You're welcome to stay for dinner" as he drove away. Mike and I pushed the car to the nearest service station that was only two blocks away. The mechanic wasn't in yet, so we had to wait another hour until he arrived. The mechanic looks over the car and finds that we have a dead battery. We get it charged up, and then we have the guy set the car's timing ("A Tune-Up!!!"--TJS)). We roll out of Chicago at 10:30. I'm driving, but the car isn't working too great as it keeps stalling on me--and we're in midday rush hour traffic. I got thoroughly disgusted and volunteered Mike to drive. He had the same problems I had with the car, but he is used to flying starts (put the car in neutral while it's still going about 70 mph and start it up again) and he kept the car moving at around 80 mph. After about two hours of stalls the car was sufficiently warmed up so it didn't give us any more problems--even when I drove it.

We arrived home at 1:30 am Wednesday, the same time it took us to get to Chicago Thursday. Four days of driving for a two day con. Was it worth it? Yeah!!

Carl J. Russell

***Thanks for the Con review, Carl. For your effort, I'll let you continue playing as a standby in TEMPEST. It's not the price of the gift, but it's the thought that counts!
